

The perfect handbag for a sophisticated woman who loves beautiful...and prestigious things!!!!

A genuine python handbag is a product of considerable distinction. This type of skin, in our opinion, can be considered the most sophisticated and exquisite of all the exotic leathers.

Python skin is known for its color variations and for its elasticity; it is the warmest leather of the season and ideal for the manufacture of many luxury goods. You simply must try it for yourself!

Our inspiration for this line of handbags comes from a wish to give you the feelings of security, protection and indulgence. Let yourself be pampered by the gentle and delicate caress of the snake-skin. Soft and smooth on your skin it is not just a wonderful tactile experience but also melts away tension, freeing you from inhibitions and stress; what is more, its extraordinary contact with your skin gives you back your good humour and love of life. All these wonderful attributes are only guaranteed by the softest, finest and most prized leathers of exceptional quality.

Genuine python skin is incredibly soft to the touch and the subtle shades of color and mood that characterize it make its leather products irresistible.

Python skin is extremely resilient and becomes even more beautiful with the passage of time, its scales open naturally, the leather becomes even softer and shapes itself more exactly to the bag. There is no doubt that a python skin bag improves with age, and instead of losing its natural beauty over time, it is perfected, so that we can appreciate the true beauty of this prized skin only over the years.

There is a huge range of colors of python skin available to create handbags, from the simplest to the most elaborate model.

One example is Indian python skin, a very refined leather that demands a more complex finishing process. It undergoes a special coloring process, or rather is skilfully painted. Expert artists carefully hand-paint the skin to achieve this very particular decoration technique.. As every python skin is individually hand-painted, no one bag made from the leather will be the same as another. The final polishing of the leather gives it its pleasing sheen.

Our brand is recognised around the world as a guarantee of quality in supplying handbags and accessories made from genuine python skins. Our products are made from only the finest and most select python skins to guarantee our customers elegance and exclusivity.

To supply the leather for our handbags we have carefully chosen a very prestigious tannery, which has been renowned world-wide for years, for its production of reptile and exotic skins. The goal of this company is to create leather suitable for manufacturing the most exclusive leather goods in the world, without any compromise being made in the production process, using the best possible techniques that technology puts at their disposal.

All of the above are top-quality genuine python leathers and come from just one type of python skin.

However there are differences between them, which come from the differing coloring processes that the skins undergo.

Trapper Python skin is usually tinted with delicate and subtle natural colors. It is less heavily worked than Indian Python, which undergoes, on the other hand, a stronger coloring process to achieve bold, decisive colors like orange, deep yellow, bright red and so on... Because of this different coloring process Indian Python leather is usually more expensive than Trapper Python, but also more original and striking.

Decolored Python skin is a very soft python skin, which undergoes a special decoloring process. That means that this python skin is deprived of its natural shades to assume an homogeneous color which can be WHITE or CREAM, as you can see from the photos above. The color is unique, and this gives the handbag or the accessory a further touch of elegance and refinement.

"MILLENNIUM" Python skin is the very latest python skin created by our Italian tanneries this year. It has just come on the market and is already having great success all around the world. It is a very prestigious python skin which undergoes a special colouring process and treatment to give it an exceptional color. This color is very soft, similar to beige and is enriched by gold highlights, giving the product a further touch of elegance and sophistication. The leather is very soft and of highest quality, so that every handbag and every accessory made with it, is even more attractive and precious.

Each one of these is a very soft leather of extremely high quality, and is personally hand-crafted in the very best Italian tanneries by our experienced and skilled Italian artisans, following the traditions of genuine Italian craftsmanship and the style that comes from being 'Made in Italy'.

Every bag made in genuine python skin comes with a CITES certificate, a special document that is proof of the provenance of the python skin, the work processes and every stage of manufacture that it has been through. It also guarantees the quantity of leather used in making the python handbag and is an essential document to export python goods to countries outside the EU(European Union).
